Choirs Sing Every Night

A special program of Christmas music has been scheduled through Dec. 22 in front of the Christmas tree at the town hall.

The Board of Trade arranged the programs of appropriate music.

Tonight at 7:30, the Andover Male Choir will sing. J. Everett Collins is director.

Friday, 7:30 Free Church Choir, Donald L. Amy, director.

Saturday, 7:30, Baptist Youth Fellowship, Junior High group, directed by Donald Gregg.

Next Monday, at 5:30, Brownie (Continued on Page 19)

May Approve Pole In Village

The Selectman delayed breaking a long-established precedent Tuesday night, but apparently only for two weeks.

Before the Board was an application for one electric utility pole on Stirling st. - the heart of the underground service area.

Although all residents of the street had been notified, Town Clerk Irving Piper said he had received no objections to the pole, which would be put up some 150 feet in on Stirling st. from Haverhill. The desire of a resident for expanded service was cited as the reason for the request, and the Electric Co. states that the underground system won't provide it.

Selectman James D. Wilson expressed his "regret" in seeing poles go in, and claimed that the Electric Co. has refused to spend the extra money it would cost to (Continued on Page 26)

Grange Won State Award

Andover Grange 183 won first prize, a $200 savings bond, plus a gold plaque, in the State of Massachusetts Home and Community Contest sponsored by the National Grange and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation for the year 1960.

This award is given to the Grange that makes the best contribution to the community during the year.

Andover Grange's project was to help equip the cerebral palsy clinic (Continued on Page Six)

Vast Snow Removal Operation Underway To Clear Main Streets

Santa Claus Will Be Here

Santa Claus will greet all the young people of the town Saturday at 1 o'clock.

Through the help of the fire department, Santa will ride in his sleigh, carried by a fire truck instead of being pulled by reindeer.

According to Lt. William Downs, president of the Relief Association, the ladder truck will welcome Santa at the Lawrence line, and he will be carried up North Main and Main sts., to Phillips Academy, then back to the Central station.

There, he will have candy for the boys and girls, who are expected to turn out by the hundreds.

Weary highway crews were still fighting snow Wednesday - this time in an effort to get the main streets unplugged.

In the wake of the worst December blizzard since 1909, every available truck was pressed into service Wednesday morning to haul snow away from the main shopping area.

The snow loader worked one side of the street, while a giant gradall scooped snow from the other. A third operation took place on Park st., where a scoop hurriedly loaded trucks as fast as they could return from dumping their loads at the old municipal dump.

Highway Supt. Stanley Chlebowski and the men of the department received a few words of praise Tuesday night, when the Selectmen voted to officially commend the department for its fine work during and after the blizzard.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff reported that the department had opened all roads by evening Monday. Trucks and plows continued to work into Tuesday morning, widening streets that required additional work. The men first came to work at 2 a.m. Monday (Continued on Page Eight)

Near Accord With Railroad

Agreement with the Boston and Maine Railroad over proposals to change traffic patterns and install automatic gates at Essex st. may be reached soon.

The Selectmen have authorized Town Manager Thomas E. Duff to write the Railroad, and other interested parties in the area, stating an agreement, as it was understood at a recent public hearing at the town hall.

If the Railroad agrees, and the private property owners also indicate their willingness to cooperate, the town will then approve the automatic gates at a resumption of the DPU hearings on this subject.

The Town Employee's Association plans to study all municipal budgets for 1961, according to Raymond LaRosa, president of the Association.

Carrying through on a statement of some months ago, LaRosa said this week that the Association should have an opportunity to review the various budgets, and make recommendations to the voters. Aside from the Finance Committee, whose job it is to study all the financial affairs of the town, the Taxpayer's Association has been the only formal group to review and study all the budgets. That organization has always made recommendations to the voters at town meeting time.

LaRosa explained that the employees, as a group, should have the chance to see what is in the budgets, and to either recommend adoption or rejection of specific items as they may affect the welfare of the employees. (Continued from Page Two)

ASSOCIATION TO STUDY BUDGET'S

Last week, LaRosa also requested that the Wage and Salary Committee - retained by the town manager as an advisory group - either be abolished or have its membership changed. He said the employees now have only one representative among the five men on the committee. This should either be changed, so that there is greater representation, or the advisory group should be abolished, he asserted.

LaRosa pointed out that the town manager sets salaries, and that these have to clear through the Selectmen, the Finance Committee and the town meeting. He questioned the need for another committee, such as the present one.

JINGLE BELLS, JINGLE BELLS - Surely the "one-horse open sleigh" would have been easier to use Monday, than were the more modern automobiles. Christmas Meeting Of November Club

The Christmas meeting of the November Club will be held Monday, Dec. 19, at 3 p.m., when Theda Morganti Torlai, coloratura soprano and harpist, will present "Christmas Music Around the World".

Miss Torlai's Christmas program is the result of prodigious research; it is a program of extreme variety, stressing the folk songs of many countries through which she brings to her audience the Spirit of Christmas.

Miss Torlai has appeared on a national weekly radio program as soloist for four years. She was for some time harpist with the Spring-

THEDA MORGANTI TORLAI field Symphony Orchestra and harp soloist in several churches in the vicinity of Springfield. Tea will be served following the program.

Crowley Urges Gifts For Camp

J. Woodrow Crowley, campaign director for the Andover fund drive for Camp Sea-Haven for Polio Children has announced that the returns are very poor.

"We mailed several hundred letters to our good people in Andover three weeks ago," Mr. Crowley declared, "and to date very few have been returned." "Andover's quota," Mr. Crowley continued, "is $1,000 and unless this amount is realized it is very possible that the only free Polio Camp in America will have to close and the Plum Island facilities will no longer offer its facilities to help those crippled by Infantile Paralysis."

"Any contribution," Mr. Crowley concluded, "will be gratefully received. There are many people in our generous town who know Camp Sea-Haven and the good work it has done for the past 14 years. They also know this is the first year the Camp has ever asked for help. During this great season of giving we are now entering upon we only hope our fellow residents will spread a little of their kindness on the Camp." Those who wish to make a donation can do so by making checks payable to "Camp Sea-Haven" and mailing them to Mr. Crowley, 6 Prospect st.

AFTER LAWRENCE FIRE — Engine One took on a mid-winter coat of ice Monday night, when it pumped water from the Spicket River, aiding in the fight against a fire at the Arlington Mill in Lawrence. The truck was so heavily coated with ice that it became the object of news and television cameras. Roland Joy, driving the truck Tuesday morning, was getting ready for clean-up work on the vehicle.

Answered Alarms During Blizzard

Andover firefighters earned their pay and then some this week, responding to two out-of-town fires during the blizzard and its following cold weather.

Monday, the department sent help to North Reading, which had a general alarm fire.

And then late Monday night, both engines one and two were sent to fight the general alarm fire at the old Arlington Mills in Lawrence.

Full crews went out with the engines, responding directly to the scene.

Engine one went out at 11:43 p.m., and returned the next morning at 6:40 a.m. Engine two headed for Lawrence at 12:02 a.m. and came back at 4:56 a.m.

Engine one, stationed near the Spicket River, pumped water from that source, and in the process accumulated over an inch of ice that made the truck appear to be a long, gleaming ice creation.

Engine two used over 2,000 feet of hose during its fire-fighting operation there.

Off-duty men were summoned to the fire station, as were the call men. They remained alert in the station, and on two occasions went to Lawrence in the jeep to pick up hose that was no longer needed there. Most of Tuesday's day crew thus were up all night, and remained on duty throughout Tuesday.

One firefighter, exclaiming about the amount of ice that covered Engine one, also pointed out that all hose couplings had to be doused in hot water before they could be taken apart — something that happens rarely.

Regular department members assigned to the Lawrence fire included Deputy Chief Charles Murnane, Lt. Raymond LaRosa, Robert West, William Moore, Lt. William Downs, Ed Palenski, Arthur Ness, Alfred Desrosier and Willard Patterson.

Also responding was Chief Henry L. Hilton.

3 Skating Areas Now Prepared

Three skating rinks have been prepared for public use, at the Central Playground, Ballardvale and on Cuba st.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, acting on the urging of Selectman James D. Wilson, had the public works department prepare the areas late last week. Immediate public use of the areas indicated their success, it was reported.

While two of the areas are on town land, the third, on Cuba st., is on land donated for the purpose by Joseph Sweeney. The town's playground area, having been recently surfaced, was not available for skating.

Mr. Duff said all reasonable efforts will be made to keep the three areas open and prepared for use throughout the winter. Snow removal will be undertaken as soon as the public works department is through cleaning up the streets, he explained.

Mrs. Jones Urges Prompt Response

Through Dec. 7, Andover residents had contributed $2,321.79 to the Christmas Seal campaign, according to Mrs. J. Keith Jones, local Christmas Seal chairman.

In Andover, the Association sent 4,445 letters to local residents, asking their generous help in the annual campaign. Some 1,761 of these have replied to date.

Mrs. Jones today urged all those who have not yet sent their contributions to do so, and then make use of the traditional Christmas Seals in decorating packages and on the backs of their Christmas envelopes.

The Essex County Health Association has mailed out reminders to the persons who have not yet responded, urging that they do so before the rush of Christmas mail.

morning, Duff said, and continued without a break.

Although some town streets appeared virtually impassable during the storm Monday, it was noted that cars were stuck in the streets, making it impossible for even the plows to get through.

The North Main st. hill was the scene of cold and shivering motorists and stalled cars during most of Monday morning. One car would lose traction on the hill, stalling many more behind. Usually one vehicle, trying to move up the hill in the wrong lane, would also get stuck, further complicating the problem.

After the highway department sanded the road with a heavy salt mixture about noon Monday, however, drivers were able to move up the hill easily.

One of the worst traffic problems in years presented itself Monday morning, when police were helpless to prevent a vast tangle of cars in Shawshen.

Extend Time On Dascomb Road

The contractor reconstructing Dascomb rd. under Chapter 90 has been given an extension of his completion date to May 31, 1961.

The request came to the Selectmen from the state, which directly supervises and controls the work.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff pointed out that, although the road surface is all right, much work remains on the sides of the road. He said the state has controlled this project entirely and he recommended that the town go along with the extension because the state feels it is necessary.

Members of the Board were somewhat critical of the slow pace maintained on the project, but it was also explained that unexpected problems had developed during the job. On one occasion, the contractor struck a peat bog and was required to do considerable extra work as a result.

It was made clear that, under Chapter 90, the state supervises the work and makes decisions. It was thought that a refusal to agree to the extension of the contract would only result in the town losing money.

Drama Department Meets Tomorrow

Private Due To

G. GRENVILLE BENEDICT

A dean of students at one of the leading private secondary schools in the United States speaking at Tulane University, said the climate of intellectual challenge is the main justification for private high schools.

A high degree of academic competitiveness is its greatest advantage, according to G. Grenville Benedict, dean of students at Phillips Academy.

However, this competitiveness is its greatest problem, he emphasized.

Benedict explained that because 100 per cent of the student body is highly-selective secondary schools are college-bound, the competition between students tends to be a "me first" attitude.

Benedict was a participant in the third annual secondary school conference at Tulane University. In his high school student council guidance officers and study directors attended the two-day conference.

Teachers and administrators must constantly stress the importance of "learning for its sake," Benedict said.

Current trends in selective secondary schools is to allow students to advance as far as possibly can, and have the experience of using their mind to the utmost, he continued.

"This can be done by private schools with large endowments can provide flexibility in curriculum, freedom of choice, and excellence of instruction and facilities," he pointed out. Phillips, a student body of 816, has a million endowment.

Benedict quickly stressed his school is selective mainly on the basis of quality. He pointed out that 35 per cent of the student body is attending on scholarship.

Success of the private school training is indicated by the fact that more than three out of four graduates of Phillips took placement tests in colleges.

When questioned on the effect of nationwide stress on science, engineering and technology, Benedict said that he was not able to detect any noticeable increase in person interested in those fields.

He felt that the principal reason for the decline in the number of secondary schools in the United States is the loss of private schools.

Private High Schools Justified Due To "Intellectual Challenge"

G. GRENVILLE BENEDICT

A dean of students at one of the leading private secondary schools in the United States speaking at Tulane University, said that a climate of intellectual challenge is the main justification for private high schools.

A high degree of academic competitiveness is its greatest advantage, according to G. Grenville Benedict, dean of students at Phillips Academy.

However, this competitiveness is its greatest problem, he emphasized.

Benedict explained that because 100 per cent of the students in highly-selective secondary schools are college-bound, the competition between students tends to build a "me first" attitude.

Benedict was a participant at the third annual secondary school conference at Tulane University. Fifty high school student counsellors, guidance officers and study directors attended the two-day conference.

Teachers and administrators must constantly stress the importance of "learning for its own sake," Benedict said.

Current trends in selective secondary schools is to allow students to advance as far as they possibly can, and have the experience of using their minds to the utmost, he continued.

"This can be done by private schools with large endowments that can provide flexibility in curriculum, freedom of choice, and excellence of instruction and facilities," he pointed out. Phillips, with a student body of 816, has a $30 million endowment.

Benedict quickly stressed that his school is selective mainly on the basis of quality. He pointed out that 35 per cent of the student body is attending on scholarship aid.

Success of the private school training is indicated by the fact that more than three out of four graduates of Phillips took placement tests in colleges.

When questioned on the effects of nationwide stress on science, engineering and technology, Benedict said that he was not able to detect any noticeable increase in person interested in those fields.

He felt that the principal role of secondary schools in the United States is to provide college-bound students with the basic tools, skills and ground-work for pursuing more scientific subjects in colleges and universities.

"This is accomplished by stressing, entirely, basic academic subjects - English, foreign languages, mathematics, classics and history," he said.

Benedict emphasized that there are highly selective public high schools, but believed they could exist only in large cities with a sufficient number of able, well-motivated youngsters from which to choose.

One interesting program which is used by Yale and Harvard universities was described by the Andover educator. In it students are sent to Phillips at the university's expense for a "tune-up" program before entering college.

story in words and music.

The Youth Fellowship will attend and go carolling following the service, and then return to the parsonage for their Christmas party.

Family Workshop Was Successful

A very successful Christmas Family Workshop was held in the Vestry of the West Church last Sunday afternoon, from 2:30 until 5 p.m.

Beautiful decorative candles were made by the older boys and girls, all sorts of tree and home decorations and popcorn and cranberries were strung by the younger folks; all in all the place was humming with activity and what is more every one enjoyed the spirit of Christmas.

At the close of the busy afternoon refreshments were served and a delightful Christmas story was told by the Rev. Mr. Andrews and Christmas Carols were sung with Mrs. Frank Robinson at the Piano. Over 250 children, parents and grandparents enjoyed the Workshop.

CHURCH NEWS

The Memorial Flowers in the West Church last Sunday morning were given by Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Dixon in loving memory of their son Douglas Dixon.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Budget Diagnosis

According to Ray LaRosa, president of the Town Employee's Association, that body wants to officially examine all town budgets this year — just as the Taxpayer's Association and the Finance Committee do.

The FinCom is the only official agency that has any authority over the budgets, but it has been customary for the taxpayer's Association to study the municipal finances, and make recommendations to the voters.

Many complaints have been voiced in recent years about taking the time to go over budgets with the Taxpayers — and it has become more or less a standing rule that this organization should have its representatives at meetings when budgets are discussed, instead of spending an extra meeting with those men alone.

Certainly if the Town Employee's Association is going to study budgets, representatives should attend the various meetings that the other study groups attend, without calling for the expenditure of more time in going over the figures for the benefit of that group alone.

There isn't anything specially wrong with the Association having its say about budgets, even if the recommendations are based in part on the so-called selfish interest of the members.

The Taxpayer's Association is, itself, a "selfish" group in the sense that its members are seeking to eliminate all but the most essential expenditures in the interests of keeping taxes down. The employees will be seeking to eliminate spending that, in their opinion, would have some adverse affect on proposals made by the Association. Many of the members are, themselves, taxpayers, and are interested in keeping the taxes at a minimum too.

Perhaps, if every interested group in town, no matter how large or small, would indicate an interest in studying budgets, we would be better off. For even if the group's interest is limited to some specific field, the members can't help but understand the issues a little better if they spend extra time studying the over-all budgetary requirements.

Thus, it seems to us, all groups and associations should be welcome to make advance studies of the budgets of the various departments. As long as this does not demand an extra meeting for each group, there should be no hesitancy on the part of town officials to grant reasonable requests along this line.

After all, any voter, exposed to additional facts, is likely to be better informed and to vote more intelligently on the issues when they come up at town meeting.

Who Said That?

"We just don't have winters like we used to".

Whoever has been guilty of repeating this statement in the past should be eating their words right now.

The storm Sunday night and Monday morning was the worst December blizzard since 1909.

Even though this one storm doesn't make a winter, we should remember that the snow doesn't accumulate as much now as it used to, even if the severity of the storm is as great. For now we have many motorized units, and advanced snow-loading facilities that were not available only a few years ago.

That's probably the reason why the winters don't seem so severe — the snow is picked up faster, and doesn't pile up in great man-made drifts along the main streets.

We trust, no matter what the weather brings in the next two or three months, that everyone will stop and think about the 12th of December before they start talking about the easy winters we "enjoy".

Carollers Deserve Praise

One of the interesting, and heart warming, features of the Christmas season this year is the carolling in front of the huge Christmas tree at the town hall.

Through the efforts of William Rhoads for the Board of Trade, many choirs and organizations have volunteered to present short programs of Christmas music each evening until Christmas.

It's little enough to say that the community appreciates the effort of these groups.

Their presence, and their fine music, will add a lot to the town's observance of Christmas.

Boston's Museum of Science says that the "beach porcupines" found on New England shores are hard-packed balls of twigs and grasses blown along by the wind for many miles. As the ball goes along, it picks up other material and adds to itself, just like a rolling snowball.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — December, 1910

Among the Andover people in attendance at the opening of the American Woolen Company's new building in New York were President William M. Wood, Walter M. Lamont, George W. Simpson and David R. Lawson.

Punchard School pupils are to hold a football rally in the school hall this evening.

Ground has been broken for the new dormitory to be erected by the Trustees of Phillips Academy, south of Bartlett Hall. Money for the project was given by Melville C. Day.

Miss Gertrude M. Morgan and George O. Richardson were the Goldsmith Prize winners at the contest held last Friday evening.

The financial reports of the Democratic and Republican town committees have been filed. Cigars occupied a prominent place in the expense accounts, and $5 was spent for red lights.

25 Years Ago — December, 1935

Ballardvale's 900 residents are divided in their desire about mail delivery. Some want the free delivery to the houses, as the rest of the town gets. Others want to keep the present system, in which everyone has to call at the office in the Vale for the mail. If Ballardvale becomes part of the Andover postal district, the price of first class postage from Ballardvale to elsewhere in the town would go down to two cents, from its present three-cent rate.

The special town meeting last Tuesday was poorly attended, and was in a giving mood. Everything in the warrant was approved, including $35,000 more for the PWA school project.

Sergei Rachmaninoff, the famous Russian composer-pianist will present a concert at George Washington Hall next Tuesday evening.

Frank Whiting and Warren Sanders were elected co-captains for the 1936 football team.

The traffic beacon in Shawsheen Village was demolished early Saturday morning by a car that was reported stolen 15 minutes after the accident. The driver, however, was eventually charged by police with drunkenness, driving under the influence and leaving the scene of an accident without making known his identity.

10 Years Ago — December, 1950

Telephone traffic between Lawrence and Andover will be tripled with the extended service area, which goes into effect next year. Some 76.7 percent of the subscribers in the town have voted in favor of the service area, which will eliminate the toll charges between the two communities.

Police are investigating a hold-up in West Andover. A tall young man is reported to have terrorized a resident of River rd., stealing $60.

An auxiliary fire fighting force is to be started, under the direction of Chief C. Edward Buchan. It will be part of the Civil Defense organization.

The railroad crossing in Ballardvale was blocked for over two hours last Thursday night, when a long freight stopped in the intersection because a hotbox developed in one of the cars. The car had to be removed onto a siding before the train moved on. Cars had to go way around by Central st. to get from one side of town to the other cussion group of this type is an excellent beginning on those "good resolutions."

Meetings are held every other Tuesday at the Memorial Hall Library.

Films Available

The following films will be available at the Memorial Hall Library for use of groups on the dates indicated: until Dec. 26, And Now Miguel, a 63 minute story of a Southwest sheep raising family; Adventures Of A Baby Fox, 13 minutes; Jan. 3-16, Dangerous River, color, 15 minutes, an exploration of the Big Horn River in Montana and its wildlife; Jan. 3-16, France And Its People, 14 minutes, an over-all view of French craftsmanship, food and wine, architecture, feast days, etc.; Jan. 9-13, Johnny Appleseed, a 15 minute movie of the man whose love of God and nature started him on a mission that was to last all his life; Jan. 9-13, Aquarium Wonderland, color, 10 minutes, a good film of a boy of intermediate age who set up a home aquarium; good close-ups, photography, etc.; Jan. 9-23, The End And The Beginning, 27 minutes, Lincoln at the White House and his death.

Poetry For America
According to authorities, there is a wide-spread interest in poetry today which is making itself felt in all parts of the country. Recordings of poetry are having unprecedented sales, the reading audience is very large, and poetry is being recited throughout the country to sell-out audiences.

Society Warns Of Dangerous Toys

Don't gift wrap tragedy for your child among this year's Christmas presents, cautions the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

"The toy you buy with the expectation of seeing your youngster's eyes light up on Christmas morning could be the cause of their being dimmed forever," Edwin R. Dunphy, M.D., chairman of the Professional Advisory Committee of the MSPB declared.

Citing recent serious injuries to youthful eyes from mishandled or unsafe toys, Dr. Dunphy called on parents for a twin-pronged campaign of judicious toy buying and Christmastide safety education for their children.

Parents have a tendency to give their children toys that are too advanced for them, Dr. Dunphy explained, and inept or inexperienced handling of the playthings leads to tragedy, such as the three-year-old Boston girl hit in the right eye by a playmate's arrow, or the little boy who lost an eye to a B-B gun fired by an 11-year-old.

What is the proper age for such toys? "There is no definite rule year at which any child can be ruled old enough for a particular plaything," the MSPB chairman said.

"Rather than by chronological age, parents should determine the child's ability by his emotional development and past experience. A youngster should be mature enough to know the danger involved in a particular toy, and to understand completely the safe way to use it.

"Don't buy a potentially hazardous toy for an older child if there is a danger that a younger one can at any time get his hands on it," warned Dr. Dunphy.

Other Christmas tips from the MSPB: avoid sharp edges and objects that break, leaving sharp edges; watch out for flammable toys or costumes, mechanical toys with exposed springs or gears, and poorly-constructed playthings.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Budget Diagnosis

According to Ray LaRosa, president of the Town Employee's Association, that body wants to officially examine all town budgets this year — just as the Taxpayer's Association and the Finance Committee do.

The FinCom is the only official agency that has any authority over the budgets, but it has been customary for the taxpayer's Association to study the municipal finances, and make recommendations to the voters.

Many complaints have been voiced in recent years about taking the time to go over budgets with the Taxpayers — and it has become more or less a standing rule that this organization should have its representatives at meetings when budgets are discussed, instead of spending an extra meeting with those men alone.

Certainly if the Town Employee's Association is going to study budgets, representatives should attend the various meetings that the other study groups attend, without calling for the expenditure of more time in going over the figures for the benefit of that group alone.

There isn't anything specially wrong with the Association having its say about budgets, even if the recommendations are based in part on the so-called selfish interest of the members.

The Taxpayer's Association is, itself, a "selfish" group in the sense that its members are seeking to eliminate all but the most essential expenditures in the interests of keeping taxes down. The employees will be seeking to eliminate spending that, in their opinion, would have some adverse affect on proposals made by the Association. Many of the members are, themselves, taxpayers, and are interested in keeping the taxes at a minimum too.

Perhaps, if every interested group in town, no matter how large or small, would indicate an interest in studying budgets, we would be better off. For even if the group's interest is limited to some specific field, the members can't help but understand the issues a little better if they spend extra time studying the over-all budgetary requirements.

Thus, it seems to us, all groups and associations should be welcome to make advance studies of the budgets of the various departments. As long as this does not demand an extra meeting for each group, there should be no hesitancy on the part of town officials to grant reasonable requests along this line.

After all, any voter, exposed to additional facts, is likely to be better informed and to vote more intelligently on the issues when they come up at town meeting.

Who Said That?

"We just don't have winters like we used to."

Whoever has been guilty of repeating this statement in the past should be eating their words right now.

The storm Sunday night and Monday morning was the worst December blizzard since 1909.

Even though this one storm doesn't make a winter, we should remember that the snow doesn't accumulate as much now as it used to, even if the severity of the storm is as great. For now we have many motorized units, and advanced snow-loading facilities that were not available only a few years ago.

That's probably the reason why the winters don't seem so severe — the snow is picked up faster, and doesn't pile up in great man-made drifts along the main streets.

We trust, no matter what the weather brings in the next two or three months, that everyone will stop and think about the 12th of December before they start talking about the easy winters we "enjoy".

Carollers Deserve Praise

One of the interesting, and heart warming, features of the Christmas season this year is the carolling in front of the huge Christmas tree at the town hall.

Through the efforts of William Rhoads for the Board of Trade, many choirs and organizations have volunteered to present short programs of Christmas music each evening until Christmas.

It's little enough to say that the community appreciates the effort of these groups.

Their presence, and their fine music, will add a lot to the town's observance of Christmas.

Boston's Museum of Science says that the "beach porcupines" found on New England shores are hard-packed balls of twigs and grasses blown along by the wind for many miles. As the ball goes along, it picks up other material and adds to itself, just like a rolling snowball.

Punchard School pupils are to hold a football rally in the school hall this evening.

Ground has been broken for the new dormitory to be erected by the Trustees of Phillips Academy, south of Bartlet Hall. Money for the project was given by Melville C. Day.

Miss Gertrude M. Morgan and George O. Richardson were the Goldsmith Prize winners at the contest held last Friday evening.

The financial reports of the Democratic and Republican town committees have been filed. Cigars occupied a prominent place in the expense accounts, and $5 was spent for red lights.

25 Years Ago — December, 1935

Ballardvale's 900 residents are divided in their desire about mail delivery. Some want the free delivery to the houses, as the rest of the town gets. Others want to keep the present system, in which everyone has to call at the office in the Vale for the mail. If Ballardvale becomes part of the Andover postal district, the price of first class postage from Ballardvale to elsewhere in the town would go down to two cents, from its present three-cent rate.

The special town meeting last Tuesday was poorly attended, and was in a giving mood. Everything in the warrant was approved, including $35,000 more for the PWA

Sergei Rachmaninoff, the famous Russian composer-pianist will present a concert at George Washington Hall next Tuesday evening.

Frank Whiting and Warren Sanders were elected co-captains for the 1936 football team.

The traffic beacon in Shawsheen Village was demolished early Saturday morning by a car that was reported stolen 15 minutes after the accident. The driver, however, was eventually charged by police with drunkenness, driving under the influence and leaving the scene of an accident without making known his identity.

Telephone traffic between Lawrence and Andover will be tripled with the extended service area, which goes into effect next year. Some 78.7 percent of the subscribers in the town have voted in favor of the service area, which will eliminate the toll charges between the two communities.

Police are investigating a hold-up in West Andover. A tall young man is reported to have terrorized a resident of River rd., stealing $60.

An auxiliary fire fighting force is to be started, under the direction of Chief C. Edward Buchan. It will be part of the Civil Defense organization.

The railroad crossing in Ballardvale was blocked for over two hours last Thursday night, when a long freight stopped in the intersection because a hot box developed in one of the cars. "My neighbor has your Home-owners Policy which covers his home and personal property on and away from the premises against loss from fire and 'extended coverage' perils, vandalism, and theft. It also includes comprehensive personal liability and additional living expense coverage. He says this Home-owners Policy costs less than a regular fire and 'extended coverage' policy — is this possible?"

Nuclear Course At Wentworth

The first Nuclear Technology course program in the United States for the training of nuclear engineering technicians by an accredited technical institute will be initiated by Wentworth Institute in September 1961, H. Russell Beatty, Wentworth president, announced.

A grant from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission will provide some of the laboratory equipment for this two year course leading to an Associate in Engineering degree. This is the first grant ever to be made by the AEC to a technical institute. Grants have been made to colleges and universities.

This course will be the first full-time day course for the training of nuclear engineering technicians at a technical institute in the U. S.

The initial class will be limited to 45 students, according to the Wentworth president.

WAITING FOR PARKING PLACES - Hundreds of cars were piled up in Shawsheen Monday morning during the blizzard, trying to get into Raytheon parking lots. Police said the traffic jam was the worst in recent memory, as cars piled up everywhere, and backed up Lowell st. at one time clear to the West Parish Church. It was explained that the parking lots weren't plowed out quickly enough to handle the cars of employees, seeking to get to work. (Staff Photo)

Wedding . . .

HESELTINE - MURPHY

At a nuptial Mass in St. Augustine's Church, Lawrence, recently Miss Helen J. Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Murphy, 44 Nesmith st., Lawrence, became the bride of George E. Heseltine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Heseltine, 21 Strawberry Hill rd. Very Rev. Paul M. Judson, O.S.A., officiated and conferred the papal blessing on the couple.

White gladioli and Stephanotis decorated the altar. Mrs. Mark McComiskey was the soloist and Miss Helen Amendola presided at the organ.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with an appliqued lace bodice, wrist length sleeves, a bow at the waist and a full skirt, ending in a cathedral train. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a satin bow headpiece and she carried a prayer book adorned with a white orchid and Stephanotis streamers.

Miss Elizabeth M. Murphy, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Eleanor M. Byrne was the bridesmaid. Both wore matching street-length gowns of Bahama blue velvet with headpieces of blue illusion attached to velvet bows. They carried colonial bouquets of blue and white pompons.

Charles M. Heseltine was best man for his brother and the ushers were Ernest Matson and George Hendricks, all of Andover.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece dress of purple brocade with a matching hat and accessories and wore a corsage of white orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore beige brocade with a green hat and accessories, and wore a corsage of green orchids.

The reception was held at the Red Tavern, with guests present from Illinois, New York, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Lynn and Medway.

After a trip to New York, the couple will reside at 548 Hawthill st., Lawrence.

NEAR AGREEMENT WITH RAILROAD

guarantees have been given by the railroad and several abutters, relating to the change of title of some property, and to the utility's willingness to do specific jobs in the immediate area.

Once these are in writing, the Selectmen felt, there should be no further delay in the postponed hearing.

The Railroad, in brief, wants to straighten out Railroad st., construct a road through the municipal parking area on the south side of Essex st. into the industrial property and give the town some adjacent land for parking. It has been generally agreed that the industrial tracks will be taken out of the Essex st. crossing, making it easier to cross. Some property owners in the area have agreed to provide small areas of land to facilitate the program.

will be his "elves".

Even though Santa will appear person for the first time Saturday he has been talking with scores of boys and girls through the mail slot at the fire station. The tots have been able to tell Santa what they want for Christmas, and heard advice to "be good children". "Many times he has amazed the youngsters with a personal conversation, coming directly from the mail box. "Pull the lid down. I can't see you", he's fond of telling the tots. And when they do, Santa talks to them about what they're wearing.

Land Taking Voted For Brook Project

Drainage easements for the Brook reconstruction have been voted by the Selectmen, thus empowering town counsel to take land takings in the Registry of Deeds.

The easements run through properties, from Main st. east to the end of the project.

Easements for the section between Main st. and the Shawheen River have not yet been prepared fully, although this portion of the work is progressing.

The land takings voted Tuesday night are of a permanent nature involving a strip of land varying in width from 20 to 40 feet. Also involved is a temporary construction easement of 80 feet, thus giving a contractor room to work.

Fire Chief
Urges Safety

The Fire Department publicly urges all residents of the town to be specially careful in the Christmas season, because fire dangers become more acute at this time of year.

The department also has warned all store owners that the use of decorating materials that will burn is not legal. This is a general warning issued each year.

Chief Henry L. Hilton has suggested that everyone be specially careful when disposing of smoking materials.

Other warnings include: put the Christmas Tree in a bucket of sand or water; check tree lights for frayed or loose wires; keep trees away from radiators, fireplace and doors.

Use only fire-resistant decorations; turn off tree lights whenever the family goes out; keep gift wrappings and electric trains away from trees; when needles start to fall, remove the tree from the house.

be his "elves".

Even though Santa will appear on the first time Saturday, as been talking with scores of girls through the mailboxes at the fire station. The boys are able to tell Santa what they want for Christmas, and hear him say "be good children".

Many times he has amazed the youngsters with a personal message, coming directly from his mail box. "Pull the lid down and see you", he's fond of telling them. And when they do, Santa is to them about what they want.

and Taking Voted

Brook Project

Drainage easements for Brook reconstruction have been approved by the Selectmen, thus giving town counsel to easement takings in the Registry of Deeds.

The easements run through the Brook, from Main St. east to the end of the project.

Easements for the section between Main St. and the Shaw Brook have not yet been prepared, although this portion of the project is progressing.

The land takings voted Tuesday are of a permanent nature, giving a strip of land varying in width from 20 to 40 feet. The easement is a temporary construction of 80 feet, thus giving tractor room to work.

PERSONAL

George E. Haseltine, M.D., is a surgical physician at the Lawrence General Hospital.

A patient at the Hospital is the brother-in-law, Edgar, of the son of Boston Hill Rd., Lawrence.

PHILIP BOLDUC, at age four, had a chance to talk to Santa Claus, in the mail box at the fire station, before the big storm. Phil lives at 74 Salem st. He's being helped to reach the mail slot by James Deyermund. Hundreds of youngsters have had a chat with Santa since it was discovered that he had taken up temporary quarters at the fire station. MAY APPROVE POLE SITE expand the underground service. He said the erection of poles is cheaper, and that is the reason the Company wants to provide service from overhead, instead of maintaining the long-planned underground service. He recalled that many towns and cities, under modern planning, are putting in underground service, but agreed that the Shawshen utilities are not capable of providing the extra power now being requested by residents.

During the discussion, even though there were no recorded objections, the Selectmen several times recalled that previous requests for poles on Stirling st. have brought bitter protests from neighbors. Much of the opposition has been based on the argument that, if one pole is put up, other requests will soon follow.

Although it was agreed that some streets in the Village now have poles, most of the Board members were agreed that it is unfortunate to be required to extend this type of service.

A representative of the Electric Co. stated that the customer requesting this specific service "would have to live with what she has now" if the pole location is denied.

The extension of service actually makes it possible for the home owner to install electric stoves and other appliances, something that can not be done under present circumstances.

Selectman Russell G. Doyle suggested the postponement of a decision, as he wondered whether there might not be some public feeling against the pole site.
